

High Availability: SoftNAS Cloud® on VMware vSphere

This section details tasks, processes or workspaces specific to SoftNAS Cloud® instances running on VMware vSphere.

Configuring high availability in SoftNAS Cloud® on VMware is a simple process. It involves two nodes with defined IP addresses, and a third virtual machine to act as a HA controller, monitoring the heartbeat between the two instances. We will cover this and more in the sections to follow.

- Premise-based HA Architecture
- VMware SNAP HA™ Setup
- HA iSCSI on VMware